

The afterschool Lego club at Race Leys Infant school in Bedworth had an idea! The fifteen boys and girls made up of year one and two children wanted to make a model that represented their local area. First they made a list of all the places they wanted to include and then decided which building they wanted to work on as part of a small team of builders. There was a lot of collaborating and perseverance as they were only given one hour to complete their individual components and bring Bedworth in Lego to life.

To the left at the bottom is Tesco with a line of tills and an entrance at the front and back of the store. At the top of the photograph is Race Leys Infants with its two playgrounds with the main school hall in the middle and classrooms running along the back. In the right playground you can even see our tunnel and hump! The children wanted to have trees and plants so they built the Miners Welfare Park with lots of tall trees and multicoloured flowers. The children also made shops they enjoy visiting. Next term in Lego club they have decided to make marble runs, racing tracks and London! Lego club would also like to thank all the people in our school community who donated Lego which has allowed our imagination to go wild.
